Speaker's Biography (Please detail below special points of background experience)
For Information and Communications Technology Lecturer Melvin Dela Cruz Roxas, working in a government institution like the Polytechnic University of the Philippines is still a continuous learning experience. Teaching in the largest state university in the country has always been a passion to him and considers it a worthwhile challenge and plans to continue nurturing students in the future. In 1999, he earned his Bachelor in Information Technology degree at the same university and on that same year, started his teaching career. In 2004, he was given the opportunity to attend a training in Tokyo, Japan on Fundamental Information Technology Engineer Examination Course which aimed to provide a prospect to take the Japanese Information Technology Standards Examination (JITSE). In 2009, he was sent to Yokohama, Japan to attend training for Bridge Systems Engineers that gave him the knowledge on basic Japanese language, multicultural issues and technical skills needed for System Engineers in cooperative IT projects between Japan and the Philippines. He is currently taking his master's degree in Global Information and Telecommunication Studies (GITS) at Waseda University Tokyo, Japan and is expecting to finish his degree in September 2012. Please complete this form.
